

CHURN VALLEY HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

www cvh3.co.uk run1584 hares- once a knight+james

27-1-13 11 o'clock

A fine day with about 40 hashers, We were told the runs would be 6.25-5.5 and 3.5, miles so off we went towards the beacon. We soon came to the old Gude Orphanage a magnificent Cotswold house overlooking Painswick now a private house. A few games on the way up Verity threw a snowball at Eddie with the speed of a laser guided missile which hit him direct on the forehead, a warning don't mess with her. On up through the woods onto the beacon with a very cold wind for a regroup. We then set off down to Spoonbed Hill and Upper Holcombe Farm leaving Mr Sheep feeling unwell with chest pains stranded with our resident nurses Eddie Nicki and Verity who ran back to fetch her car, meanwhile his pains were not improving so Nicki ran to the nearby road to stop a car. but they would not stop until she had taken off her t-shirt. So an ambulance soon arrived and took Mr Sheep to A+E. The good news is it was no more than a chest sprain so we wish him a quick recovery so he can direct traffic this week. The rest of the Hashers had a good run back via Stark Hill Farm to the clubhouse at 1pm. A jolly good run with lots of new trails and checks thank you boys.

Back at the clubhouse the beer was good, luckily too far out for Arkles. Now James and his family are very good supporters of our hash James helped lay a great run so I don't know why the family were picked on today.

James did the run and was awarded a hash name Pain in the neck because of an op on his neck. His wife Sharon was awarded a hash name Spearment Rhino which is a pole dancing club because of her t-shirt with Rhino on the back. And to finish the attack on the family Jade the daughter was given the new sheep's hat for apparently no knickers on under her jogging pants according to Brian who awarded her the hat.

DOGGER

No 1586 10/2/13 Bmi Club Upton st Leonards GL48ag Fireraiser

No 1587 Available

No 1588 Royal William Cranham GL6 6TT Bellend Pickle